1 PLACE THE BIKE ON ITS CENTER STAND ON LEVEL GROUND.

2 Looking up at the underseat area, remove the two existing TORX head screws with a T25 driver.

3 From the right side of the bike, position the MudSling securely against the underseat area, aligning the holes of the MudSling with the holes of the screws just removed. When positioned correctly the widest part of the MudSling will rest against the frame rails that support the footpegs.

4 Install the two longer TORX head screws provided with rubber washers. Loctite is not compatible with ABS plastic. If you do use it, sparingly apply only QUICKSTIX 248.

5 On the left side of the bike, secure the MudSling to the frame with a zip tie and trim off any excess length.

6 On the right side of the bike, feed the zip tie from the bottom side, up through the backside hole of the MudSling until you see it come out from behind the square tubing. Pull it out, feed it through the front hole, cinch it up securely and trim off any excess length.

ATTENTION! Recheck fastener tightness after the first ride. Be sure to properly set suspension pre-load for the weight being carried before riding.
